CHAPTER 01 • EXECUTIVE MANDATE

The Case for Action

On November 5, 2024, the American people delivered an unmistakable mandate. Donald J. Trump won the presidency with a decisive electoral majority, Republicans secured control of the Senate and the House, and voters sent a clear signal: the era of managed decline is over.

The Conditions We Inherited

The Biden administration left the country in a state of deliberate disorder. The southern border had effectively ceased to function as a border, with over 185,000 illegal encounters recorded every single month. Inflation had eaten into the savings of working families. Violent crime surged in cities governed by progressive prosecutors. Federal agencies had been weaponized against political opponents. The military had been hollowed out by ideology. American energy independence — achieved under this administration's first term — had been deliberately dismantled in service of a globalist climate agenda.

This was not the result of incompetence. It was the predictable outcome of an ideological agenda pursued with discipline. Reversing it demands equal discipline — and the willingness to use every constitutional tool available without hesitation.

“The American people have given us a mandate. We will not squander it. From Day One, we will act with the full force of the Executive Branch to restore what was taken from the American people.

— President Trump, January 20, 2025

The Legal Framework for Speed

Article II of the Constitution grants the President broad executive authority. This administration will use it fully. Where Congress acts, we will work with it. Where it cannot act fast enough, the President will act alone through executive orders, presidential memoranda, proclamations, and emergency declarations. The International Emergency Economic Powers Act (IEEPA), the National Emergencies Act, the Defense Production Act, the Alien Enemies Act of 1798, and Section 232 of the Trade Expansion Act all provide extraordinary authority that prior administrations left untouched. We will not.

ORDERS ON DAY ONE

More executive actions signed on a single day than any president in American history. The mandate was executed before the ink on the oath had dried.

254

TOTAL DIRECTIVES 2025–26

Executive orders, proclamations, and memoranda signed across the first 15 months of the second term, covering every dimension of the America First agenda.

$962B

DEFENSE BUDGET FY2026

The largest defense budget in American history — signed into law — reflecting a return to peace through strength as the foundation of national security.

What Success Looks Like

This administration defines success not in process terms — bills passed, hearings held, task forces convened — but in outcomes that Americans can feel. Success means a border that functions as a border. It means wages that grow faster than prices. It means a courtroom that delivers equal justice, not political justice. It means an American flag on the moon within four years. It means a digital economy that belongs to American innovators, not Chinese surveillance capitalists. These are the seven national pillars of the 2025 Roadmap — and every instrument of federal power will be directed at achieving them.

CHAPTER 02 · DOMESTIC STRATEGY

The Seven National Pillars

The America First domestic agenda rests on seven non-negotiable pillars. Each represents a promise made to the American people — a commitment backed not by rhetoric but by concrete legal action from the first hours of this administration. What follows is both the strategy and the scorecard.

PILLAR 1 · SEAL THE BORDER

The southern border is not a policy question. It is a sovereignty question. A nation that cannot control who enters it is not a nation. On January 20, the President declared a national emergency at the southern border — invoking military authority, ending catch-and-release, terminating the CBP One app, and resuming wall construction. The Alien Enemies Act of 1798, unused in generations, was invoked in March 2025 to enable the expedited removal of Tren de Aragua gang members. ICE detention funding was increased by 308% in the One Big Beautiful Bill signed on July 4th.

The results speak for themselves. Monthly border encounters — which averaged 185,625 under Biden — fell to 117,105 total from January through November 2025. Fentanyl seizures dropped 55% year-over-year through September. Every cartel operating at scale along the border is now designated a Foreign Terrorist Organization, enabling asset seizures and criminal prosecutions under counter-terrorism statutes.

PILLAR 2 · END INFLATION

Inflation is a tax on the poor. It destroys savings, punishes discipline, and rewards the well-connected who hold assets. The Biden administration caused it deliberately — through reckless spending, regulatory overreach, and the deliberate suppression of American energy production. This administration's strategy to end inflation is built on three pillars: tax relief, energy dominance, and deregulation.

The One Big Beautiful Bill, signed into law on July 4, 2025, permanently extended the 2017 tax cuts that were set to expire — preventing what would have been the largest tax increase in American history. It eliminated federal taxes on tips, overtime pay, and Social Security benefits. It repealed the Inflation Reduction Act's $572 billion in energy subsidies that were distorting markets. On energy, the administration declared a national energy emergency on Day One, lifted LNG export restrictions, reversed Biden's offshore drilling ban, and opened federal lands to development. America is once again the world's dominant energy producer.

PILLAR 3 · RESTORE LAW & ORDER

For four years, the federal government actively undermined law enforcement, emboldened prosecutors who refused to prosecute, and let political violence go unpunished. This ends now. The Department of Justice has been directed to pursue the death penalty in all eligible federal cases. Antifa was designated a domestic terrorist organization in September 2025. Schedule F was reinstated, enabling the removal of ideologically compromised civil servants who obstructed law enforcement. Federal law enforcement task forces targeting transnational criminal organizations are fully operational and producing arrests.

Cashless bail — a policy that treats repeat violent offenders as victims of the justice system — is being systematically defunded at the federal level. States that adopt it will lose federal law enforcement support. The message is simple: if you commit a crime in America, you will be caught, prosecuted, and punished. That is the social contract we are restoring.

PILLAR 4 · PROTECT FREE SPEECH

The First Amendment is not a suggestion. For four years, federal agencies colluded with technology companies to suppress political speech — flagging accounts, throttling content, and demanding the silencing of voices the administration disagreed with. On Day One, executive orders reversed every federal censorship program and ended government demands on platforms to moderate content. The AI Litigation Task Force was created to challenge state laws that restrict expression under the guise of AI regulation.

TikTok — a platform used by 170 million Americans — was saved from forced closure through a negotiated divestiture to a U.S.-majority joint venture with Oracle as independent monitor. The President's commitment was clear: Americans have a right to the platforms they choose, provided those platforms are not instruments of foreign surveillance.

PILLAR 5 · ELECTION INTEGRITY

The integrity of the ballot box is the foundation of the republic. Without it, every other policy is contingent on the tolerance of those who count the votes. This administration has moved swiftly on the administrative dimensions of election security: CBP One was shut down, closing a back door that was being used to register illegal aliens. DHS cross-checks with voter rolls are now mandated. The 2024 platform calls for same-day voting, paper ballots, and proof of citizenship — a standard that every major democracy already meets.

Federal legislation codifying these standards is the next priority. The 2026 midterm cycle will be conducted with the full weight of federal enforcement behind the principle that every legal vote must count — and every illegal vote must not.

PILLAR 6 · SPACE DOMINANCE

The nation that dominates low Earth orbit, the lunar surface, and cislunar space dominates the strategic high ground of the 21st century. China understands this. Russia understands this. This administration's December 2025 executive order set binding targets: Americans on the moon by 2028, a permanent lunar outpost by 2030, nuclear reactors on the moon by 2030, and next-generation space-based missile defense by 2028.

These are not aspirations. They are requirements, backed by executive authority and federal funding.

The Genesis Mission launched an AI-integrated platform unifying federal scientific datasets. The U.S. Space Force continues to expand. Commercial space is being actively partnered with, not regulated into irrelevance. America will own the high ground.

PILLAR 7 · CRYPTO FREEDOM

The United States will be the crypto capital of the world. In March 2025, this administration created the Strategic Bitcoin Reserve — the first sovereign bitcoin reserve in history — directing the Treasury to hold seized bitcoin as a national strategic asset rather than liquidating it. A broader Digital Asset Stockpile was created for other cryptocurrencies. The SEC's campaign of regulatory harassment against crypto firms was ended by executive direction. The One Big Beautiful Bill included favorable tax treatment for digital assets.

This is the most crypto-friendly policy posture in American history. We are not regulating this industry to death. We are building it — in America, by Americans, for Americans.

— Administration Crypto Policy Statement, March 2025

CHAPTER 03 · INTERNATIONAL STRATEGY

Peace Through Strength

America First is not America Alone. It is America Confident — projecting strength from a position of domestic renewal, demanding that allies carry their share, and making clear to adversaries that American power is not something to be tested. Six international pillars define this strategy.

PILLAR 1 · PEACE THROUGH STRENGTH

Weakness invites aggression. The $962 billion defense budget — the largest in American history — is not a blank check for contractors. It is a deterrence signal. NATO allies, under sustained pressure, have agreed to record defense spending increases. When Iran threatened American interests, this administration responded with direct military strikes on Iranian nuclear facilities — not memos, not sanctions negotiations, not strongly worded statements. Venezuela's Maduro was captured by U.S. forces and brought to New York to stand trial. Qatar's security was formally guaranteed by executive order, anchoring U.S. military positioning in the Gulf.

The message to every adversary is the same: the United States under this administration does not threaten. It acts. Deterrence is only credible when it is backed by demonstrated willingness to use force. That willingness has been demonstrated.

PILLAR 2 · END ENDLESS WARS

America has spent trillions of dollars and thousands of lives on conflicts that did not make America safer. The era of nation-building abroad while our own nation crumbles is over. USAID — the primary mechanism through which American taxpayers funded foreign governments, foreign NGOs, and foreign influence operations — was shut down. In October 2025, this administration brokered the Gaza ceasefire agreement, co-signed by Egypt, Qatar, and Turkey — a deal that the Biden administration spent years failing to achieve.

The Ukraine conflict remains unresolved. The administration's position is clear: the United States will support a negotiated peace that does not reward aggression, but America will not write a blank check for a conflict with no defined exit. Peace talks are ongoing.

PILLAR 3 · FAIR TRADE DEALS

For decades, American workers were told that free trade was good for everyone. What they were not told was that it was good for everyone except them. This administration has renegotiated the terms of American engagement with the global economy from a position of strength. The Liberation Day tariffs of April 2025 — a 10% baseline on all countries, with higher reciprocal rates reflecting each country's own barriers to American goods — were the opening move.

By the end of 2025, bilateral deals had been secured with the United Kingdom, Japan (securing $550 billion in Japanese investment commitments), India (which committed to stop purchasing Russian oil), and China (the Kuala Lumpur Arrangement, under which China eliminated global export controls on rare earth elements in exchange for suspension of peak tariffs). The era of American trade passivity is over.

- UK bilateral trade deal — July 2025
- Japan deal — $550B investment commitment secured
- India deal — commits to halt Russian oil purchases
- China Kuala Lumpur Arrangement — rare earths for tariff relief
- Section 232 tariffs on steel, aluminum, copper, lumber maintained

PILLAR 4 · CHECK CHINA'S INFLUENCE

China is the pacing threat. Not an adversary to be managed — a rival that must be outcompeted on every dimension: technology, trade, finance, military, and ideology. House Republicans introduced 103 China-related bills in the first half of 2025 alone. Advanced semiconductor tariffs were imposed on Chinese chips in January 2026. Investment bans on Chinese military-linked companies were maintained and expanded. TikTok was restructured to eliminate Chinese control over 170 million American users.

The strategic clock is ticking. U.S. intelligence assesses that China's PLA has been ordered to be Taiwan-invasion-ready by 2027. This administration's response is military overmatch, economic decoupling in critical sectors, and alliance strengthening in the Indo-Pacific — making the cost of aggression too high to contemplate.

PILLAR 5 · ARCTIC SECURITY

The Arctic is the strategic frontier of the 21st century. Russia and China are both expanding their Arctic presence with deliberate intent. This administration has elevated Arctic security to a core pillar of the new National Security Strategy. The acquisition of Greenland — an autonomous territory of strategic unparalleled importance for monitoring and intercepting Arctic shipping lanes — has been pursued as a national security imperative. New Arctic Security Cutters have been authorized and funded. The Monroe Doctrine has been formally reasserted across the entire Western Hemisphere.

PILLAR 6 · RESTRUCTURING GLOBAL ALLIANCES

The postwar alliance system was built for a world that no longer exists. America cannot continue to provide unlimited security guarantees to wealthy nations that refuse to invest in their own defense. This administration's approach is not to abandon alliances — it is to reform them. Burden-sharing is not optional. It is the price of the American security umbrella. NATO allies have responded: defense spending has reached record levels across the alliance.

More than 40 foreign heads of state visited the White House in 2025 — double the pace of the previous administration — demonstrating that America First does not mean America Isolated. It means America on its own terms. The Monroe Doctrine has been reasserted. The Western Hemisphere is an American sphere of interest, and it will be governed accordingly.

We are not withdrawing from the world. We are re-engaging on our terms — as a nation that leads from strength, demands reciprocity, and will not apologize for putting American interests first.

— National Security Strategy, November 2025

CHAPTER 04 · IMPLEMENTATION MECHANISM

The Executive Order Record

Words without action are meaningless. What distinguishes this administration from its predecessors is the velocity and breadth of executive action — beginning in the first hours of the first day and continuing without pause. The following is a structured record of the presidential directives that give legal force to the strategy described in this document.

2025 — The First Year

In the first twelve months, the administration signed 30 major executive orders — the most consequential first year of executive action in modern history. The pace began on Inauguration Day with 26 orders signed, shattering every prior record, and continued without pause through December.

Jan 20 — National Border Emergency	Military deployment to the border. Catch-and-release ended. CBP One app terminated. Wall construction resumed.
Jan 20 — Withdraw from WHO & Paris Accord	Immediate exit from the World Health Organization and Paris Climate Agreement.
Jan 20 — Establish DOGE	Department of Government Efficiency created to identify and eliminate federal waste.
Jan 20 — End DEI Programs	All diversity, equity & inclusion programs terminated across the federal government.
Jan 20 — Defend Biological Truth	Two sexes recognized in all government documents, passports, and federal programs.
Jan 20 — Designate Cartels as FTOs	MS-13, Tren de Aragua, and major cartels designated Foreign Terrorist Organizations.
Jan 20 — Rescind 80 Biden Orders	Omnibus rescission of 80 Biden executive actions in a single Day One action.
Jan 20 — Unleash American Energy	National energy emergency declared. LNG exports opened. Biden drilling bans reversed.
Jan 22 — Protect Children from Mutilation	Federal funding for gender-transition procedures on minors prohibited.
Jan 25 — English as Official Language	English declared the official language of the United States federal government.
Jan 27 — Suspend Refugee Program	Refugee Admissions Program suspended pending security review.
Jan 27 — Protect Women's Sports	Biological males barred from federally funded female sports categories.

Feb 1 — Canada & Mexico Tariffs	25% tariffs invoked as national security response to fentanyl and illegal immigration.
Feb 1 — China Tariffs	Additional 10% tariff on all Chinese goods citing fentanyl supply chain.
Mar 6 — Strategic Bitcoin Reserve	Treasury directed to hold seized bitcoin as a national strategic reserve — a world first.
Mar 15 — Alien Enemies Act	1798 statute invoked for expedited deportation of Venezuelan gang members.
Apr 2 — Liberation Day Tariffs	10% global baseline tariff. Reciprocal rates up to 145% on China.
Jun 9 — Dismantle Dept. of Education	Administrative dissolution initiated. Educational authority returned to states.
Jul 4 — One Big Beautiful Bill	Tax cuts permanent. No tax on tips. $150B military. $175B border. Signed July 4th.
Sep 5 — Restore Dept. of War	Department of Defense officially renamed Department of War.
Sep 19 — The Gold Card	$1M immigration pathway established via Commerce Department gift program.
Sep 22 — Antifa Designated Domestic Terrorist	All federal agencies directed to dismantle Antifa operations.
Sep 25 — Save TikTok	U.S.-majority joint venture with Oracle monitoring declared a qualifying divestiture.
Nov 4 — U.S.-China Trade Deal	Kuala Lumpur Arrangement: China drops rare earth controls; tariffs suspended.
Dec 18 — American Space Superiority	Moon 2028. Lunar outpost 2030. Nuclear reactors on moon. Space missile defense 2028.
Dec 18 — Reschedule Marijuana	AG directed to move marijuana from Schedule I to Schedule III.

2026 — Continuing the Mandate

The second year has continued at the same pace. Key 2026 actions include:

Jan 7 — Warfighter First in Defense Contracts	Underperforming contractors banned from stock buybacks. Executive pay tied to delivery.
Jan 20 — Stop Wall Street Buying Homes	Large institutional investors restricted from purchasing single-family residential properties.
Jan 29 — Cuba National Emergency	National emergency declared over Cuba. Tariffs authorized on countries supplying Cuba with oil.
Jan 29 — Great American Recovery Initiative	White House addiction council launched — national coordinated response to addiction crisis.
Feb 6 — Iran Maximum Pressure	Full maximum pressure reimposed. Tariffs authorized on any country trading with Iran.
Feb 6 — America First Arms Strategy	U.S. arms sales explicitly reframed as tools of foreign and industrial policy.

Feb 20 — End De Minimis Loophole	Duty-free threshold for all international packages eliminated. Full customs duties now apply.
Apr 3 — Expand Steel, Aluminum & Copper Tariffs	Section 232 tariffs extended. All product-category loopholes closed.

CHAPTER 05 • THE FOUNDATION

First Term Legacy Orders

The second term does not begin from zero. It builds on a foundation of durable legal infrastructure laid between 2017 and 2021 — executive orders that survived four years of a hostile Biden administration and now form the bedrock of the 2025 strategy. Of the 220 executive orders signed in the first term, 148 (67%) were never fully revoked. Many were reinstated and expanded on January 20, 2025. The most significant are summarized below.

Trade & Economic Independence

The withdrawal from the Trans-Pacific Partnership (January 23, 2017) established the principle that America would no longer bind itself to multilateral trade arrangements that disadvantage American workers. The Buy American and Hire American order (April 18, 2017) created the enforcement framework for procurement preferences that this administration is expanding. The Section 232 investigation into steel and aluminum imports (April 28, 2017) led to the tariffs that Biden maintained and that this administration has broadened into a comprehensive trade rebalancing strategy.

National Security Architecture

The re-establishment of U.S. Space Command (December 12, 2018) and the Securing the ICT Supply Chain order targeting Huawei (February 13, 2019) created the institutional architecture that now underpins this administration's China containment strategy. The Critical Minerals strategy (December 20, 2017) laid the groundwork for the rare earth independence push that culminated in the Kuala Lumpur Arrangement with China. The Global Magnitsky Sanctions framework (December 21, 2017) — which designated human rights abusers across the globe — was maintained and expanded by Biden and is now a core tool of America First foreign policy.

Durable Domestic Infrastructure

The American AI Initiative (February 11, 2019) — the first federal strategy for artificial intelligence investment — was expanded by Biden and is now the backbone of the Genesis Mission and the administration's AI dominance agenda. Opportunity Zones (May 2, 2018) continue to channel private capital into under-invested communities. Combating Anti-Semitism on Campus (December 11, 2019) — applying Title VI to anti-Semitic conduct — has been dramatically expanded and is now a central element of this administration's higher education reform agenda.

The first term was the foundation. The second term is the structure. Every order signed between 2017 and 2021 that survived the Biden years is a brick in the wall of a permanent America First legal architecture that no future administration will easily dismantle.

— www.republicans24.co Strategy Memo, January 2025

The Road Ahead

Agenda 47 is not a wish list. It is a legal strategy, backed by constitutional authority, driven by a clear mandate, and measured by outcomes that Americans can see in their daily lives. The border is tightening. The tax burden is falling. The military is rebuilding. American energy is flowing. American speech is free. American astronauts are returning to the moon. American bitcoin sits in the national treasury. These are not talking points. They are facts — produced in the first fifteen months of this administration.

The work is not finished. The deep state has not been dismantled — it has been placed on notice. The national debt has not been tamed — the fiscal discipline required to address it remains ahead. China has not been checked — the Taiwan deadline of 2027 demands urgent action. But the direction is set, the instruments are deployed, and the mandate is clear.

America is moving again. And it will not stop.
